PRIEST CHASED BY AN ENRAGED PARENT

Rev. Michael Diminski Forgets His Vows; 100 Policemen Protect Him From Harm.

Special to The Tribune.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 12.—Caught in a compromising position with a sixteen-year-old girl early Wednesday morning, the Rev. Michael Diminski just managed to escape the girl's father, who gave chase with a shotgun. Father Diminski is rector of Holy Trinity Catholic church and late this afternoon he returned and declared that he would remain here until the flight Rev. Charles H. Cotton, of Buffalo, bishop of this diocese, ordered him to leave.

Within an hour of his arrival a mob of more than 1500 gathered in front of the rectory, where clubs and stones were thrown, and cries of "lynch him" were hurled at him.

The police were summoned and at 10 o'clock tonight a squad of 100 bluecoats are guarding the property from further damage.

For some time past there had been rumors that Father Diminski was not living up to his priestly vows. He went to Buffalo Tuesday night and returned on an early morning train. John Waidel, a neighbor, saw him enter the home of Michael Halane. He aroused several friends, including the head of the household. They made a tour of the house, but could not locate the priest. Finally the door of the room occupied by the daughter was broken open and the girl was seen to leap from a window. She was scantily attired. When he saw the way matters stood, the girl's father left the room and the priest followed the girl. The father soon returned with a shotgun and pursued the fleeing pair. Diminski reached the rectory, and while Halane was trying to gain entrance at the front door the priest escaped out of the back door and departed for Buffalo on a trolley car. The girl followed and has not been seen since.

DICKINSON IS OUT OF TAFT'S CABINET

Successor as Secretary of War Is Henry L. Stimson of New York.

by someone of the president's own party and who also pointed out that Mr. Dickinson might prove a source of embarrassment when the 1912 presidential campaign begins. Naturally, Mr. Dickinson often found the discussion in the cabinet of party measures a personal embarrassment.

There were others who thought Mr. Dickinson had incurred some criticism by his conduct of the war office. As was pointed out recently, there have been reports of friction over the Mexican situation between the state department and the war department.

In some quarters it was asserted that Secretary of State Knox was being overshadowed by Mr. Dickinson and there were reports that the former contemplated resigning, but these met with official denial. There had been no hint that Mr. Dickinson contemplated retirement.

President Acted Quickly.

The president moved swiftly when he found he had to select a new secretary of war. On Wednesday night Secretary Hilges was dispatched to New York post-haste. He met Mr. Stimson the next day, but the latter wished to consult with his father, who was then on the Atlantic bound for Europe.

Mr. Hilges came back to Washington, and Mr. Stimson resorted to the wireless. His father's answer advising him to accept came today, and late this afternoon he called up the White House on the long-distance telephone and said he would be glad to enter the cabinet. The deal was closed right then and the president, who was waiting to go to a garden party in the White House grounds, gave a sigh of relief.

The appointment of Mr. Stimson will give New York two members of the cabinet, Attorney General Wickersham being a resident of that state. Mr. Stimson has had no special military training, but in talking to friends, the president expressed the belief that he was the sort of man who could come into the war department and quickly get the swing of affairs.

There are few men in public life outside of Washington for whom the president has a higher personal regard, and during the New York campaign the president frequently expressed his unqualified approval of Mr. Stimson's candidacy.

Letter of Dickinson.

Following is the correspondence between President Taft and Secretary Dickinson:

my personal attention in Tennessee. I hereby tender my resignation as secretary of war, to take effect as soon as I may be compatible with the public interest. I cannot express to you how much I appreciate the honor and confidence which you have bestowed upon me and the uniform kindness with which you have always treated me.

The memory of having enjoyed the privilege of being associated with you and my colleagues of the cabinet in the discussion of so many great questions affecting the welfare of the country will always be cherished by me as inestimable.

With all good wishes for you, and with the hope that one so able, patriotic and devoted may long be spared for the service of his country, I am, very sincerely,

Yours, J. M. DICKINSON.

Reply of President.

The president replied:

"The White House, Washington, D. C., May 8, 1911.

"My Dear Secretary Dickinson—I have your letter of resignation and am very sorry that personal considerations, as you have explained them, at length to me, leave me no alternative and require me to accept it. Since you wrote your resignation to me that if I thought your leaving the war department would embarrass me in view of conditions in Mexico you would request to be allowed to sacrifice your personal interests and continue in office.

"While I fully appreciate the high sense of duty that prompted your offer, I am glad to say that recent developments indicate that no crisis is likely to arise making your withdrawal now any more of an embarrassment than at a later date, and justifying my asking from you such a sacrifice.

"In consenting to a severance of our official relations I wish to tell you how satisfactory your administration of the great department has been. It involved the care and control of the army, the government of the Philippines and Porto Rico, the construction of the Panama canal and incidentally the government of the canal zone. In every way your work has been admirable and I desire you to the gratitude of your countrymen.

"Personally, I wish to thank you for what you have done and for your inviolate sense of loyalty to the administration, to express my deep regret that our delightful intimacy growing out of our official family relation is to end. I sincerely hope that you may be able to achieve success in the personal business that now claims your earnest efforts. Believe me, I shall carry with you into private life my high respect and affectionate regard. Sincerely yours,

"WILLIAM H. TAFT.

"P. S.—I make this acceptance to take effect at the time of the qualification of your successor, which, at your request, I hope to secure May 15, 1911."

Secretary Dickinson on May 5 wrote:

Willing to Reconsider.

"Dear Mr. President—When I offered my resignation it seemed that peace would be restored in the mind. The situation is now so alarming that it might be unwise to make a change in the official I hold. While I have no right to withdraw my resignation, and if I could would not take a step that would embarrass you, I want to say that in consequence please ignore all the reasons advanced by me to support it and be guided alone by considerations of public interest. This is not to further embarrass you, but in view of the gravity of the situation to put myself entirely at the public service, regardless of personal considerations. Respectfully,

"J. M. DICKINSON."

Mr. Stimson was born in New York, September 21, 1867. He graduated from Yale in 1888 and from Harvard Law school in 1890. He was associated with Senator Root of New York in the practice of law and in 1906 was appointed United States attorney for the southern district of New York. He resigned that position after three years' service, but became special counsel for the government in the prosecution of the sugar trust. As counsel in that case he won the admiration of Attorney General Wickersham and Mr. Taft.

Secretary Dickinson was born in Mississippi, spent most of his life in Tennessee and was appointed to the cabinet from Chicago. He is 49 years old. In the civil war he served with the Mississippi volunteers. He was educated in the University of Nashville, the University of Leipzig, Saxony, and the Sorbonne, Paris. He was sworn in as secretary of war March 12, 1909, previously having been general counsel of the Illinois Central railroad, with offices in Chicago.

Dysentery was the cause of death in each case. Mr. Smith, who is a well known Salt Lake man, has the sympathy of a wide circle of friends in his double bereavement.

The funeral of the children will be held at 11 o'clock today from the undertaking parlors of O'Donnell & Co.

MORE OFFICERS WILL GO TO MANEUVER CAMPS

General E. A. Wedgwood of the Utah militia will send two more officers to the scene of maneuvers along the Mexican border within a few days. He states that he has not yet decided who these men will be, but that they are to report, one at San Diego and the other at San Antonio, on May 27.

Seek Mrs. Amy E. Parker.

A communication was received at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday morning from Mrs. Ira Pelton of Sellwood, Or., inquiring as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Amy E. Parker, a member of the Y. M. C. A. of Portland, who is said to have left Sellwood a number of months ago for Salt Lake with the intention of being married. According to the letter, Mrs. Parker was accompanied by her two children, and word has reached the Oregon people, the letter says, that Mrs. Parker was never married here. Mrs. Pelton says that relatives and friends at Sellwood are anxious to hear from Mrs. Parker.
